

Making the most of your health savings account

Your health plan comes with a health savings account (HSA). An HSA saves you money by lowering your taxable income. Here's how it works.

- You set aside pre-tax dollars to pay for current and future qualified medical expenses.
- The amount you decide to set aside is taken out of your paycheck and placed in your account. Your employer will also contribute $200/$400 to your account. In 2021 the total contribution limit is $3,600 for an individual and $7,200 for a family. If you're 55 or older, you can contribute an extra $1,000 a year.
- Any money left in your HSA rolls over from year to year. It's yours to keep even if you change health plans or jobs, or retire.

Activate your debit card

Be sure to activate your debit card when it arrives in the mail. Then you can use it to pay for doctor visits, prescriptions, urgent care, lab tests and other qualified health care expenses.

Visit anthem.com/qme for a full list of qualified medical expenses.

It's easy to manage your health plan and HSA

Register your account on the Sydney Health mobile app or anthem.com so you can:

- View your account balance and review your plan benefits and claims.
- Set your account preferences and make sure we have your preferred email address. You'll also want to opt in to receive eStatements to avoid paying a monthly paper statement fee.
- Set up a one-time or recurring tax-free contribution for your HSA. Transfer money from your personal bank account or automatically deduct funds from your paycheck if offered by your employer.

Two ways to do more with your HSA

1

Combine your HSAs if you have more than one

If you have an HSA from a previous employer or with another bank custodian, you can move your funds to your Anthem HSA with PNC Bank as the custodian. This makes using and managing your account much simpler.

- You'll have one debit card, one mobile app, one statement, and one Member Services team.
- You'll stop paying fees to your other HSA custodian.
- You'll have only one account to manage during tax time.
